2022 ENERGY INDUSTRY AWARDS

The Energy Club of Western Australia

Connecting people with energy!

The Energy Club WA (ECWA) is an industry network and educational resource for the energy sector in Western Australia.

We are a member-based not-for-profit organisation comprising of members from all areas of the industry and associated service providers.

We value the role we play in connecting people within the energy industry, connecting the “Next Generation” to inspire their career pathways, and connecting people to promote knowledge sharing amongst their peers.

We create an environment where members can mix both professionally and socially in order to facilitate long term associations and business opportunities, and an arena for promoting continued professional development, education and public awareness.

The Energy Club WA hosts monthly networking events such as industry dinners with keynote speakers, sundowners, plus the annual industry gala and golf day functions.

AWARD SPONSORSHIP:

The Energy Club WA invites you to consider sponsorship opportunities of the 2022 Energy Industry Awards.

A key event on our calendar, the awards provides an opportunity to showcase and promote your brand and company's capabilities to our industry, while supporting the development of our industry's most inspiring professionals.

The Energy Club WA 2022 Energy Industry Awards recognises the outstanding contribution of individuals and teams to our industry.

Join us for a night of celebration, Thursday 15th December 2022, as we announce our award recipients and acknowledge all nominees outstanding achievements.

All nominations must be endorsed by a manager. Self-nominations will not be accepted for any of the 2022 award categories.

We're pleased to open nominations in October for the following categories:

THE BROOKE ARNOT EXCELLENCE AWARD

The Brooke Arnot Excellence Award is the Energy Club of Western Australia's premier award, which was developed to recognise the outstanding work of young professionals within our industry. Whether it be at work, outside of work, or volunteer work - young professionals in our industry are making an outstanding contribution on a daily basis.

Our highest accolade will be awarded to a young professional who is a shining light for the future of our industry. This person goes above and beyond, exceeds expectations, continually strives for excellence, and inspires others to connect with our industry.

NOMINEE MUST:

- Be a current member of the Energy Club WA for the 2022-2023 membership year.
- Be under 35 years of age at the close of nominations on 4th November 2022.
- Be engaged by an operating company or a service provider supporting the industry. Both office and field based young professionals will be considered for the award.
- Provide outstanding examples of personal initiatives, activities or contributions which the individual has made to their workplace or community which has benefited the Energy Industry.
- Demonstrates an active and ongoing commitment for professional education and career growth, sharing knowledge amongst their peers, and inspiring others to connect with the industry.

ECWA MEMBER OF THE YEAR

In recognition of their contribution to both Energy Club WA and the broader energy industry, the ECWA Member of the Year will be awarded to a member who lives and breathes the values of the Club.

Through their ongoing commitment to ECWA values, this person inspires others to grow their career pathways within the industry, sees the value in building lasting connections, and promotes knowledge sharing through ECWA events and their own work. Recognised as an outstanding member of the energy industry community by their peers, this person shines as someone who upholds continued professional development, education and public awareness of the energy industry.

NOMINEE MUST:

- Be a current member of the Energy Club WA for the 2022-2023 membership year.
- Without fail uphold the values of the ECWA, at our events and as a representative of the club within the broader community and industry.
- The nominee must not be a current ECWA Board of Governor at the time of nomination.
- Provide demonstrable examples of outstanding and ongoing commitment to:
 - Fostering career development amongst industry young professionals.
 - Giving back to the community and positively promoting the energy industry.
 - Attending and regularly participating in club activities.
 - Promoting industry education and knowledge sharing amongst peers.
 - Building ongoing connections amongst the ECWA membership and energy industry.

ENERGY INDUSTRY TEAM OF THE YEAR

Awarded to a team within the energy industry regularly working in the field either onshore or offshore. The nominees will have safety at their core, demonstrate outstanding skill in their profession, and a commitment to upholding a supportive team culture on a daily basis. The recipients will demonstrate actions which care for their teammates like a family, with the safety, mental health and wellbeing of their crew at heart.

Nominees may be individuals working back-to-back or a team/crew working together on a regular basis. There is no maximum limit, though the minimum number of people in a team is two.

NOMINEE MUST:

- Demonstrates an outstanding commitment to safety, skill in their profession, and to a supportive, mentally healthy team culture.
- Provide demonstrable examples of strategies and actions implemented by the nominees which have led to improved awareness and positive behaviors in relation to workplace mental health.
- Be engaged by an operating company or a service provider supporting the energy industry in a site based role. This can be a professional, technical or trade role, either at an offshore or onshore site location.
- Demonstrate values which are lived on a daily basis that are inclusive and welcoming of diversity.

ENERGY INDUSTRY GAME CHANGER AWARD

Awarded to an individual or team who have made an outstanding contribution to innovative thinking, policy or procedural advancement, energy industry leadership, development in technological innovation, engineering design, or outstanding idea generation which has resulted in significant advancement of the industry's knowledge and capability within the last two years.

This award celebrates the passion, innovation and ingenuity amongst the energy industry. Nominees may be from any field or sector within the energy industry. If you've had a major thinking breakthrough, have challenged the status quo or are on the cusp of leading the industry in a brand new direction, we want to hear from you.

Completed projects and activities are welcome for submission, however nominees do not need to submit a final end product or finished project to be eligible for this award. ECWA wants to celebrate the ideas, plans, and innovations of our industry game changers at whatever stage of the pipeline they are in.

NOMINEE MUST:

- Be engaged by an operating company or a service provider engaged on the delivery of an energy industry project. Both office and field based will be considered.
- The team may also be a collective of people from different organisations who ordinarily work together.
- If for a team, nominees must be a team of people who ordinarily work together, although do not need to be located in the same office or location.
- Submissions for this award are requested to provide an abstract (less than 1000 words) and brief supporting material (video/graphics) explaining their nomination.
- The nominated idea/innovation/development/activity must have commenced (but not necessarily completed) within the last two years as of 29/10/2022.
- At least one member of the team must be a current member of the Energy Club of Western Australia for the 2022-2023 membership year.
- Provide demonstrable examples of their contribution to innovative thinking, policy or procedural advancement, energy industry leadership, development in technological innovation or engineering design, or outstanding idea generation which has resulted in significant advancement of the industry's knowledge and capability.
